ST. PAUL BRAKEMEN PUT UNDER ARREST FOR STEALING GOODS

Railroad Employees Held on Federal Warrants Charging Theft of Freight in Interstate Traffic.

Following complaints of repeated and regular car robberies on the Chicago and Milwaukee division of the St. Paul road, especially on freight train number 165 operating from Chicago to Janesville, railroad detectives employed by the railroad company have made a thorough investigation resulting in the arrest of two brakemen on the train on federal charges. They were arraigned before United States Court Commissioner Stanley Tallman.

W. B. McHenry, head brakeman, of Libertyville, Illinois, was brought before Commissioner Tallman yesterday and after he had waived his examination, the court set his bonds at one thousand dollars, which he was unable to furnish. He was taken to the Rock county jail to await indictment by the grand jury.

William Ellis of Milwaukee, the second suspect, was arrested yesterday brought before Commissioner Tallman this afternoon when the United States marshal at Madison was present to arrest him on the federal warrants.

H. Bond, Chicago conductor on the train, is not implicated in the thefts, according to Detective William Scholl, who has been making the investigation. It is declared that McHenry admitted his guilt and offered testimony that Bond was free from guilt. The authorities claim that the two men arrested have been guilty of an organized system of stealing clothes, merchandise, liquor and cigars from the cars while in transit, bringing their crime under federal jurisdiction.

The last robbery reported by the Janesville agents of the St. Paul railroad was January twenty-fourth, from a shipment of clothes from Rochester, New York to St. Mitchell of Broadhead Fred W. Zimmerman, Janesville station agent, notified the company and Detective Scholl was ordered to investigate and to clear up the mystery of numerous losses that the railroad had been forced to stand of late.

The system that the two men worked was thoroughly organized and would escape the attention of the men left damaging evidence from the car which led to his arrest. Ellis being the rear brakeman, had way-bills showing shipments of the kind of merchandise, and in what car they were in. He would then post McHenry, and when the freight train was in the track, McHenry, it is alleged, would break the seal, and take valuable goods from the boxes. When the conductor of the train was out of the car he would then take the goods and then the chance to smuggle the goods into the car and successfully hid them from other members of the train crew.

On reaching Janesville, the terminal station, they would divide the loot. Ellis taking his to Milwaukee and McHenry taking his share to his home in Libertyville.

This morning the detective searched the caboose, and found four suits of valuable clothes, hidden beneath the bunk beds. McHenry's home was searched and it is claimed stolen quantities of cigars and liquor were found. McHenry has been employed on the St. Paul railroad for several years. Ellis holds the position of conductor of the Chicago and Milwaukee line was working on the Janesville branch of the line as brakeman until work was open on runs between Chicago and Milwaukee. Both were trusted workmen and their arrest surprised the St. Paul employees.

The St. Paul officials hope, with these arrests, that the freight car robberies will be cleared up, for at the present time three men are being held at the county jail, on federal charges for stealing from cars, or receiving stolen goods.

Providing Court Commissioner Tallman finds grounds to hold them, or that Ellis waives his examination this afternoon, both will be bound over to the United States court at Madison. The sentence for this crime is from one to ten years in prison or five thousand dollars fine, or both.

BELOIT VICE PROBE IS A TAME AFFAIR; JANESVILLE NEXT?

Senator Teasdale's Investigators May Be Expected Here at Any Time.

Investigators of the state vice commission, of which Senator Teasdale of Sparta is chairman, may be expected in Janesville at any time. In fact, it is possible that they may be quietly working here at present, after the manner in which the Beloit probe was conducted. Senator Teasdale, who was in Beloit Thursday, visited Chief of Police Quallman and announced that he had secured an investigation of the conditions in the Line City and was able to give the town practically a clean bill of health as to morality. The investigation was a very quiet affair, and nothing was known of it until the senator arrived yesterday. A further inquiry into several matters is expected, however.

As far as is known the vice investigators have not started in the Mayor Fathers or Chief of Police Ransom are not aware of any subversive investigation, but are confident that conditions in Janesville are above reproach and that the Bow City with Beloit and Ashland in the vice commission's report. The commission is due here very soon according to the schedule which was announced by Senator Teasdale a month or more ago.

Work Quietly at Beloit.

The first inkling of the fact that an investigation had been conducted in Beloit by the state vice commission was received yesterday when Senator Teasdale of Sparta dropped into the police station and informed Chief of Police Quallman that an investigation had been conducted there.

Several matters were taken up with Quallman by Senator Teasdale who also informed Judge Clark at the municipal court rooms.

Morally the city has a clean slate, according to the statements of Senator Teasdale to the Beloit officials, which he has yet stated in the state of Wisconsin. He paid a very high compliment to Chief Quallman, who he said, had the welfare of the city at heart and who has control of the vice tendencies of the city in a most efficient manner. He praised the work of the local police department in the highest terms and was fully satisfied that they were taking every step possible for the complete elimination of vice in Beloit.

Although the commission will not go to Beloit to hold a formal hearing, Senator Teasdale promised a rigid investigation of the reported ease with which it is possible to have illegal operations performed in that city was "bad" in this respect and that he was astonished with the ease with which evidence, in such matters, was obtained against a few of the doctors which matter will be sifted to the bottom and some of the doctors are expected to be made within the year future.

Senator Teasdale expressed himself very emphatically in favor of the law in Beloit and stated that the greater part of the vice existing in every city was the result of young girls wandering the streets at night.

While in Beloit Senator Teasdale interviewed among others, Prof. A. W. Peck, Mayor George Seeger, Mayor Father Hanz and the Rev. W. Leake also interviewed several of the officers of the Woman's Federation in an effort to learn the extent of the operations of vice being made for the suppression of vice and also to learn possible the flagrant violations of the vice laws.

OLIVER HAS ATTACK OF REAL COLD FEET

Beloit Battler, After Agreeing to Local Bout, Refuses to Sign Papers—Match, Canadian Champion.

Directors of the Bower City Athletic club are incensed over the actions of Red Oliver, Beloit boxer, who was scheduled to meet Hal Clark of Milwaukee in one of the eight-round preliminaries in the Janesville bouts April first. Oliver and Bobby Ward were in Janesville Sunday to sign for the match and agreed to the conditions of the contract, but the papers were not signed as they had not been made out.

Yesterday President George Ibrig received back the papers which he sent to Jimmie Clark, promoter of the Beloit club on the orders of Oliver with the excuse that if Oliver entered the Janesville bouts he might get hurt here in his bout with Clark. Indications point to this truth, for Clark looked good to give the Beloit club a real match in Milwaukee, Janesville directors, when in Milwaukee signing Clark for the bout, met Col. Lawson, matchmaker for the Beloit club, but nothing was transacted over Oliver being matched for the Beloit exhibition on April seventh.

With Oliver consenting to the match, bills were printed scheduling him with Clark and when he backed out of the match, apparently with an attack of cold feet, it left the Janesville men with short notice to sign another good man to meet Clark. The reason that Oliver gave to Beloit sporting writers for his crawling was that Clark refused to make the hundred and thirty-five pound weight specified in the agreement. The truth of this claim is apparent, when it was shown the Milwaukee boxer had a forfeit of fifty dollars in his agreement and had fought under a weight two and three pounds lower than 135.

The local promoters were fortunate in being able to sign a substitute who is a better man than Oliver and matchmaker Jimmie Clark, a champion lightweight of Canada, for the match. If Oliver had signed the agreement the Janesville men would take the case before the state boxing commission over Oliver being matched for a fight barred from boxing in the state. The change improves the card greatly, as Welsh is nationally known and Clark should have a quarrel on his hands to beat him.

JANESVILLE LEADING IN RACE FOR TITLE

BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATS CUMBERLAND IN FIRST GAME AT APPLETON TOURNEY.

TO MEET FOND DU LAC

Tonight's Battle Will Test Real Worth of Power City Quintet—Atwood and Hemming Star.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Appleton, March 27.—With Dalton and Stewart playing in place of Edler and Falter, the 1913 Wisconsin Champions from Janesville, began another rampage here yesterday afternoon by cleaning up Cumberland, 17 to 26 in a one-sided contest. Cumberland started strong but could not stand the pace. Janesville plays the Fond du Lac quintet tonight in the first game of the evening.

Atwood, 1913 all-state forward, and Hemming, 1913 all-state center, are again in a class by themselves at this year's tournament. The former scored 12 times and the latter 8 during yesterday's conflict. Dalton scored 6 times at running guard and was the big floor man in the game. He fouled twice. Stewart shot 4 times and was alert at all times. Stickney starred at forward with 3 goals. He is the smallest man in the team, and is attracting much attention. Barnes played eleven minutes and Rau nine. Both were out-headed and each scored, the former 3 times and the latter once. They are dependable men.

Details of Play.
For several minutes neither team scored. Talbot missed a free throw. Atwood began the scoring for Janesville by dropping in two goals in rapid succession. Talbot scored once. Atwood began another streak and scored twice. Hemming now broke into the limelight by scoring twice on short shots. Stewart followed and the scoring never ceased until the whistle was blown. Score at the end of the half Janesville 34, Cumberland 17.

The second half opened with Dalton scoring. Stewart and Stickney followed. Atwood scored 4 times and was taken out. Barnes came to his place. Barnes played 22. Hemming and Dalton were the only men who played the full game. Dalton for Cumberland was the big star for his team. He counted four times in the last half. Janesville failed to let up and constantly filled up the score to the amusement of the spectators. Janesville is the big sensation in the tournament. Rau played exceedingly well and guarding ability was easily shown. The game ended with cheers for the Janesville team.

Chance for Title.
If the game with Cumberland is to be any criterion, the Janesville high school basketball champions can lay a fairly good claim to the state title for the second consecutive time. Every Janesville player, including Rau and Barnes, who entered the game early in the second half, were in rare form and showed a class in basketball which is extraordinary. Every person practically who saw the game, has the idea that even the 1913 champs, with Edler and Falter on the team, were not in a class with this year's aggregation. Dalton at running guard and Stewart at sticking guard are the talk of the town, to say nothing of the praise given to Atwood and Captain Hemming. Stickney was watched so close yesterday, that he failed to show his real ability. He scored the prettiest goal of the game in the first half against Cumberland, going at top speed. Janesville meets Fond du Lac tonight, and a good fast game is looked for.

Thursday's scores are as follows:

AMERICAN GOLFERS SAIL FOR ENGLAND TO MEET STAR BRITISH PLAYERS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Boston, March 27.—America's pride and hope for retaining the golfing honors which the youngster Quintet won from those seasoned veterans, Vardon and Ray, at Brookline last year, were to sail from here today for the British Isles. In the party are Quintet Max R. Marston, Heinrich Schmidt, who did so well at St. Andrews in 1913; and Arthur C. Lockwood, Jerome D. Travers and Fredrick Hereshoff, of Garden City, twice runner up for the United States amateur championship which Travers holds, and once metropolitan titleholder, sailed two weeks ago. These six and possibly more will all tee up at Sandwich when the coming British-American golf conflict opens. It was thought probable among golfing circles here today that Charles Evans, Jr., may change his plans and find it possible to be among Americans who will be on the firing line at Sandwich.

BROWNS AND CARDINALS START SPRING SERIES.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

St. Louis, March 27.—Back from spring training trips, the Cardinals and Browns were scheduled to meet this afternoon in the first of seven games of the spring city series. The stands were crowded with fans, out to "look 'em over" in hopes that at least one team would pull itself out of the cellar this season.

Sport Snap Shots

Seldom is a fanning bee complete without a Frank Chance story. Any player who ever played under the Peerless leader is sure to have a number of good wheezes, wherein Chance figures prominently. And while of course the day will come when chance is no longer able to ramble on the diamond it is unlikely that there will ever be a time when his name is not on the lips of most all ball players. Whether they have played with him or not, they all like to talk about him. A recent story of Frank and his whimsical moods has to do with the opening of the season last year. The Yanks had started the season in Washington, where with rain and bum luck, they were able to win only one game of the series. Moving on to Boston, Ray Keating, pitched the opener for the Yanks and won in neat fashion. And immediately after the game Chance rushed up to Keating and thrust two new $50 bills upon him, his face irradiated with joy. And turning to the rest of the boys he said, "I can't do this for all of you, but go ahead and buy all the cigars you want and charge them to me."

Somehow or other the oil that is poured on the troubled waters of Cub baseball affairs in Chicago helps little. It was thought when Charley Murphy was given the grand exit as chief executive of the club—that peace and tranquillity had arrived at last. But ah me, it seems that it never is to be so in Chicago. Fans there now are beginning to doubt very seriously whether Murphy has indeed been thoroughly done away with. Somehow some of the fan feel that they can detect his finger in things that have occurred since his supposed deposition. And even if there is more discontent, Charlie Taft, the real owner—and no one else—has shown himself to be just about as popular with Chicago fans as was Murphy. The fans of that man's town feel that they have been deceived, and so coming to the game at the Cub park and in fact says he won't have any new stands unless we think that the increased attendance demands them and that the present ones are unable to hold the crowd. Which same has made the Chicago Cub fans very, very sore indeed, as may be seen by glancing at one of the Chicago papers.

The Lawrence ball team of the New England league should surely cop the pennant in their race if two young men they are employing on their team this season in any way resemble their distinguished big brothers. The young brother of Joe Wood is fast following in the elder's footsteps and many expect that within another season or two he will make the pace pretty fast for Smokey Joe. Hank Mathewson, a brother of the immortal Matty, plays in the outfield. He made a reputation around New York last season in semipro ranks and is said to be a slugger of great class.

SLOOP IS BEING BUILT TO DEFEND AMERICAN CUP

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Boston, March 27.—The sloop, Defiance, being built at Bath, Me., for the "Tri-City Syndicate," as a candidate for the defense of the American cup, will be christened by Miss Frances Clark, a daughter of E. Walter Clark, of Philadelphia, a member of the syndicate. The Defiance will be launched early in May, and will be given its preliminary try-out off the mouth of the Kennebec river.

The Janesville Gazette

NEW BLDG. 300-301 E. MILWAUKEE ST.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESVILLE, WIS., AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS.

The Gazette does not knowingly accept false or fraudulent advertising or other advertising of an objectionable nature. Every advertisement in its columns is printed with full confidence in the character and reliability of the advertiser and the truth of the representations made. Readers of the Gazette will not be a factor if they will promptly report any failure on the part of an advertiser to make good any representation contained in a Gazette advertisement.

WEATHER FORECAST.

In this vicinity the weather will continue cloudy and unsettled, probably with rain or snow to night and Saturday. Brisk north-east winds will prevail and it will continue cold.

THE NO LICENSE QUESTION.

One of the issues of the coming campaign is the question of license or no license, an important question which merits more time for discussion than the few days preceding the election will permit. That there should be a division of sentiment on the part of temperance people is perfectly natural, for the feeling prevails to greater or less extent that the time is inopportune, and conditions not the most favorable, for presenting the question to popular vote.

There have been times during the past eighteen months when laws have been defied and ignored to such extent that many people who believe that wholesome regulation is better than unenforced prohibition, were ready to vote the nuisance out of existence, and this sentiment was so strong that no one appreciated it more than the saloon men.

But conditions have changed, and while present conditions are far from perfect, yet they are vastly improved. The no license campaign is sprung on the eve of election, when there is neither time to arrange or crystallize public sentiment, and the danger is that the showing made will prove a hindrance rather than a help to the cause of temperance.

The uncertainty of the strength of the no license element was a club in the hands of the friends of temperance, but when these forces are counted, unless success crowns effort, the opposition will be more defiant.

The Gazette would like to see Janesville a dry town, and will do all it can to assist in making it dry, just as soon as convinced that public sentiment is strong enough to pass and enforce prohibitive laws, but until such time comes the paper is convinced that regulation which regulates, is far better than prohibition which does not prohibit.

Voters who are of the same opinion must use their own judgment as to whether the time is ripe for this movement. Public sentiment is the only thing that makes and enforces moral law, and this is a moral question, pure and simple.

A LIVELY CORPSE.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "After the defeat of the republican party in 1912 and the large vote polled by the progressives, it became a favorable habit in many quarters to say, 'The republican party is dead.' That habit has persisted, especially among progressive politicians, who seek to draw support to their own party from the republicans by this continued assertion.

"Unfortunately for the people who like to hug this delusion to their breasts, the republican party does not seem to know that it is dead. Like Mark Twain, it insists upon regarding the report of its death as grossly exaggerated, and stubbornly betrays satisfactory proofs of vitality.

"For instance, there is the primary campaign in South Dakota, just concluded. It resulted in the nomination of Congressman Charles F. Burke, a stalwart republican, for United States senator by a comfortable majority over Senator C. I. Crawford, the 'progressive republican' candidate. It was a victory for republicanism over hyphenated republicanism, and an important one, for the Dakotas are supposed to be strongholds of 'progressivism.'

"Then consider the registration in California, a state where the progressive leaders would not even permit a real republican ticket to be placed in the field in 1912, so firmly entrenched were they in control of the political machinery. Receding reports of registration for primary elections show 522,970 voters thus far enrolled, of whom 208,028 gave their politics as 'republican,' without any qualification whatsoever, while 41,744 gave no political affiliation. That is, there are almost as many republicans enrolled as democrats and progressives combined, and several populous republican strongholds have not yet registered.

"Verily, the republican party is decidedly a lively 'corpse.'"

THOROUGH DISCUSSION.

There are always questions of public interest that should be given a thorough discussion. Just at this time the question of license or no license is one that is attracting considerable attention. In order that the public can have an opportunity to judge of the merits of the case for themselves, the Gazette will publish a signed communication for and against the question, that is submitted subject to approval of the management. There may also be other questions that persons will desire to write on and these will be given similar publicity, but they must all be signed by the writer's name, no anonymous communications being given consideration.

WORK FOR CHILDREN.

One of the branches of the Civic League is planning an interesting campaign for the children of the city that should bear fruit. On Monday next a Junior Civic League is to be organized with the slogan, "Swat the fly!" "Make a Garden," and "Clean up the back yard." Its results should be far-reaching and the ladies behind the movement have arranged for the purchase of penny packets of garden seeds to further interest their young members in the work. It is a start in the right direction and with the aid of the Civic Council, recently organized, should do much toward making Janesville "The Spotless City." It is a movement that should be encouraged.

Even in the haste for education the head of the educational department should not neglect the teaching of fire drills. It is not a fire drill when the pupils are warned it is to come, or merely the marching out exercises; it must come spontaneously as though a real danger existed. Its value has been demonstrated in many parts of the country and it should not be neglected in Janesville.

It will soon be time to plan for the summer work of the city playgrounds. The work accomplished last year is a good nucleus for the coming summer and the children are anxiously waiting for the time to come when they may again enjoy the healthful exercises taught them.

Roosevelt's press agent manages to keep his employer before the public and in the limelight better than even the most optimistic theatrical agent that ever arranged for the theft of the leading lady's waste jewels by a daring robber.

If J. T. Hooper is elected school commissioner at large, the city obtains, at no expense, the services of a man who is authority on school affairs and whose thirty years' experience in school affairs will make him invaluable to the city as a whole.

It is not long until election day and with the selection of a commissioner, a school commissioner at large, and a vote on the question of license or no license it should be an interesting affair when it is held, and doubtless will bring out a large number of voters.

Even Champ Clark is opposed to the Wilson repeal of the Panama canal tolls and with Underwood arraigned against it also it looks as though there was going to be a parting of the ways in Wilson's diplomatic family.

Madison, Beloit and Rockford all vote on the question of wet or dry this year, while Milwaukee has an election on the question of socialism or non-partisan political rule. The results will be interesting to note.

So Janesville basketball players won first blood at Appleton, Thursday, and will now battle it out for another state championship. May luck go with them.

The cartoonists have agreed to bury the old-time mother-in-law jokes for good and all. It is about time.

Words Without Rhymes.

There are many words in English that have no rhyme. As given in "The Rhymers' Lexicon," by Andrew Lang, they are as follows: Aitch, alb, amongst, avenge, bilge, bourn, breadth, brusk, bulb, coif, conch, culm, cusp, depth, doth, eighth, fifth, film, forge, trout, fugue, gulf, hemp, lounge, mauve, month, morgue, mourned, ninth, oblige, of, pearl, pint, porch, pork, poult, prestige, puss, recumb, sauce, scare, scarf, sixth, sploit, swain, sylph, tenth, torak, twelfth, un-plagued, volt, warmth, wasp, wharves, width, with, wolf, wolves.

To Cultivate Cheerfulness.

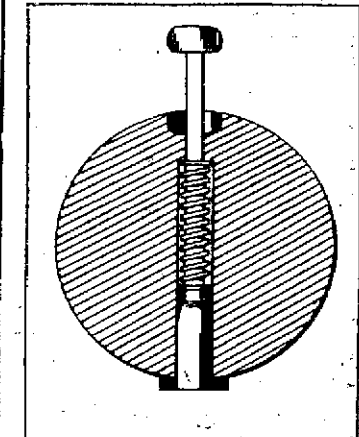

Sydney Smith once gave a woman a score of recipes for cheerfulness, and among them was to remember all the pleasant things said to and of her, to keep a box of candy on the chimney-piece and a kettle simmering on the hob. Do not give way to melancholy; never ask "Why were we born?" If you are giving to asking questions, ask easy ones.

HANDLE ON BOWLING BALL

Makes It More Convenient to Manipulate the Wooden Sphere.

The handle on the bowling sphere which has been recently patented is designed for the purpose of facilitating transportation of the ball from one point to another. Professional players, and even amateurs, who are careful about their playing and jealous of their reputations will not play with any but their own ball, and when engaging in contests it often is necessary to carry this from place to place.

The handle shown herewith is spring-controlled and sinks into a boring through the center of the ball, and when desired it may be removed entirely so that the recess affords a place to grasp the ball with the fingers. The device not only offers a means of carrying the ball in a convenient and comfortable manner, but it is also said to be a desirable feature in the rolling of the ball, permitting certain manipulations of the sphere that are not otherwise possible. As soon as it leaves the hand the handle is automatically withdrawn and offers no obstruction to the passage of the ball as it moves along the alley.

To Keep Bacon From Curling.

"But bacon curls up so when it is sliced very thin," protested a young cook when the family objected to thick slices of bacon. The way to avoid that annoying curling is to have the frying pan very hot and turn the slices before the meat wears on the under side and begins to curl. By constant attention and turning the thinnest slices can be broiled brown, crisp and straight.—Nebraska Farmer.

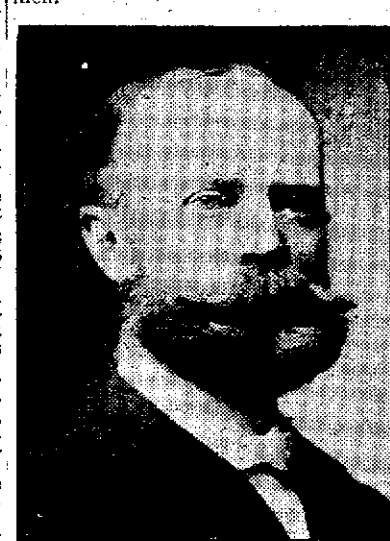

Test of Greatness.

There is no man who has never sacrificed his selfish desire for the sake of some other person, who has never felt a pleasure in undergoing some loss or trouble because it pleased somebody else. It is a truth that man is not a detached being, that he has a universal aspect; and when he recognizes this, he becomes great.—From "Sadhana—The Realization of Life," by Rabindranath Tagore.

Doing the Little Things Well:

That is a characteristic of this store. In recognition of the truism that a little transaction may seem small to the merchant is often of great importance to the purchases, our great systems of buying, selling, delivery, exchange and adjusting are organized to care for the smallest transactions in the same satisfactory manner as the larger ones. In merchandise there are many hundreds of little articles for which only occasional calls are made, but when they are wanted it is to fill a need which nothing else can fill properly. It is our constant effort to supply these trifles when desired—it accords with our ideas of completeness of stock. The same regard for detail is exemplified in the thousand and one ways which go to make up satisfactory, ideal merchandising.

PLAN ORGANIZATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Junior Civic League to be Formally Launched on Monday Afternoon at High School.

With a slogan of "Swat the Fly" and instruction to "make a garden" and "clean up the back yard," the children of the Janesville public schools of the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades are to be organized into a Junior Civic League. The initial meeting will be held on Monday afternoon next at the high school at four o'clock. Prof. J. L. Egan, university extension work will be present to deliver an illustrated lecture on the work that should prove most interesting. The work of exterminating flies by destroying their breeding places, cleaning up the back yards and planting gardens will all be explained. The committee of the Civic League, composed of Mrs. A. P. Levey, Mrs. John Rexford and Miss Florence Palmer, have made arrangements for an assortment of penny packets of flower seeds with the Helms Seed store and it is expected the children will be interested enough to buy the packets of their own. There is to be a button, with the inscription, "Junior Civic League," for all who join the organization and it is possible that prizes may be given for residents' improvements made by the little army of workers who will start in immediately by "swatting the flies."

SIX PROTESTS MADE AT COUNCIL MEETING

Garfield Avenue Residents Ask That Paving Work Be Held Over Until Next Year.

Five property owners on Garfield avenue and one on Court street were the only ones to make objections to the proposed street improvements passed by the board of public works at the hearing before the common council, held at three o'clock this afternoon. The Garfield avenue residents protested the work not because of the amount assessed but asked that the work be held over for a year because of the expense. C. S. Jackson, owner of several lots on Court street, protested on the assessment, claiming that there would be no profits. No action was taken by the council, but it is expected that the work will be passed. The salary list for city officials and employees was allowed and the meeting adjourned until Tuesday of the coming week.

Something All Can Do.

God has not given us vast learning to solve all the problems, or unfailing wisdom to direct all the wanderings of our brothers' lives. He has given to every one of us the power to be spiritual, and by our spirituality to lift and enlarge and enlighten the lives we touch.—Phillips Brooks

Must Be Left Untouched.
The "Treasure of the Lowly" is the supreme undiscovered treasure, that is why Maeterlinck writes of it with a golden pen. Bring the jewel into the market, let the lapidary take it from its mysterious matrix and out it with his remorseless tools. At it into a king's crown, a lady's ring or the cover of a silver box and somehow the wonder vanishes. The crowd may stare, but no one goes into raptures any more.—Indian Messenger.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs."

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Refractory Lining.
A refractory lining suitable for plugging cracks or for patching is described by the Brass World. The composition is: Fine asbestos, 40 pounds; water glass (silicate of soda), 60 pounds. These are mixed with enough water to make a pasty mass which can be worked.

Period of Sadness.
After twelve months in office the chairman of a West Wales parish council was about to give up his position. "And now, gentlemen," he said, with feeling, "the time has come for me to vacate the chair."

Good Paste.
A paste that will keep a long time is made by dissolving one ounce of alum in a quart of warm water. When cold, add flour enough to make it the consistency of cream, then stir into it a teaspoonful of powdered rosin. Boil to the proper consistency, stirring all the time. It will keep for many months, and when dry may be softened with water.

DEMOCRATS DIVIDED ON TOLLS QUESTION

Underwood, Clark and Kitchin Are Opposed to President's Position.

By Winfield Jones.
Washington, D. C., March 27.—The democratic party is split wide open on the Panama tolls question. On one side is arrayed President Wilson with his open repudiation of the free tolls plank in the Baltimore platform, on the other side is Representative Underwood and Kitchin, and Speaker Clark, who oppose the attempt to repeal free tolls in the house. This division makes the first great break in the democratic party in congress and is the forerunner of others to come, on other public questions, notably the Mexican situation, which is not being handled by the president to the satisfaction of many democrats in congress.

Representative Kitchin of North Carolina will be the majority floor leader for the democrats if Leader Underwood is elected to the senate from Alabama. Kitchin utterly repudiates the president's repeal of free tolls policy but the North Carolina member lacks nerve to make a bold and winning fight against the White House on this question.

Kitchin argues that there can be no discrimination in permitting American coastwise vessels to use the canal without payment of tolls for the reason that foreign vessels are not permitted to engage in the coastwise trade. Mr. Kitchin sums up his argument as follows: "The president has changed his position. Shall I change, simply because the president has? Or shall I follow the democratic path, where my reason and conscience leads? If President Wilson had not taken the position for repeal of the proposition would not receive a democratic vote in the senate, and certainly not 10 per cent of the democratic vote in the house."

Mr. Kitchin recalls that when the Panama bill was voted upon in the senate the exemption clause was adopted by a vote of 44 to 11. "Every single democratic present voted for it, twenty-four in number, and twenty republicans," said Mr. Kitchin.

An analysis of the eleven opposing votes is interesting. Root, Penrose, Oliver, Crane, Wetmore, Brandegee, Lodge, etc., names at once suggestive of the influence of railroads, big business and special privileges, constituted the eleven. These men have been condemned by the public generally, and especially by the democratic party for years, as champions in the senate of railroads and special interests. They opposed it in the name of "national honor," but at the same time were serving the transcontinental railroads, including the Canadian Pacific, whose only competitors for transcontinental freight will be the coastwise vessels through the canal.

Mr. Kitchin insists that Great Britain, in one of its notes, had admitted that free tolls to American coastwise vessels was in no sense violative of any treaty obligations. Kitchin quotes the British note of July 8, 1912, as follows: "If the trade should be so regulated as to make it certain that only bona fide coastwise traffic would benefit by this exemption, it may be that no objections could be taken."

"This was both a diplomatic admission that exemptions from tolls of our coastwise vessels would not violate the treaty and a diplomatic suggestion to congress to eliminate objectionable propositions protested against, and confine the exemption to our coastwise traffic."

Mr. Kitchin denies emphatically that the tolls amounted to the payment of subsidy to American coastwise vessels. "The exemption applies the same policy to the Panama canal as has been applied since the beginning of the government to every other waterway in the United States," he says. Kitchin said that following the adoption of the exemption clause in 1912 "it was almost universally approved by the American people." Continuing, he said: "The three parties and the three candidates for the presidency—Wilson, Taft and Roosevelt—expressly approved and endorsed, during the campaign of 1912, the exemption provisions we are now asked to repeal."

CAN'T FILL ORDERS FOR PRISON TWINE

Warden Daniel Woodward Reports Unusual Success in Operation of Twine Mill.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE].
Madison, Wis., March 27.—"We are behind in the orders for binder twine manufactured at the state prison," said Warden Daniel Woodward, who was here this week attending the meeting of the state board of control. "To date we have manufactured 2,103,000 pounds of twine and it is all sold and orders are still coming."

President Ralph Smith of the state board of control said that it might be necessary to pay the prisoners for overtime work and have them work in the penning so that all orders received could be cared for. This is the second year that twine has been made at the prison.

"This mill is now turning out about 100,000 pounds of binder twine per week," continued Warden Woodward. "About ninety men are employed in the mill. A system of payment to the inmates for the work they actually do is a great incentive for quick and intelligent action."

The system of manufacturing binder twine at the prison has many interesting features. The raw material goes in at one end of the building and comes out at the other end a finished product. All the twine is tested for length and strength last year but the two qualities of twine were made, Standard and Sisal, 500 feet to the pound. This year all lengths usually called for by the farmers of the state will be furnished. The twine is sold at prices varying from seven and three-fourth cents to eleven cents, depending upon the grade.

The legislature of 1911 made the final appropriation to equip the twine plant. The bill had been urged by the farmers of the state and the Wisconsin Society of Equity. The scheme was generally looked upon as an experiment at the time, but Warden Woodward declares that the plant is a financial success.

This was the first step in breaking away from the contract labor principle at the state prison. Stockings are still made at the prison under contract. At the last session of the legislature a law was passed to permit convicts to be employed in road-making.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

WHERE MOST IS TO BE LEARNED.

There is an old time custom which has fallen into disuse. It is the practice of making pilgrimages to the homes of sages, to sit at the feet of wisdom and thus to absorb learning that should be a light to the understanding and a guidance to the heart.

No longer do we journey to the homes of the seers. Instead, they come to us, in person or via the printed page, to impart their wisdom to us.

Facing thousands from the lecture platform and millions from books, magazines and newspapers, they tell us what the accumulated wisdom of the ages and their own experiences have taught them.

We travel to see foreign countries and strange cities and wonderful sights. Why not travel to see what is in some respects the greatest sight of all, a wise man?

There is inspiration in the coming into close personal contact with wisdom. It cannot be gained from being merely one of an audience or from studying the cold words expressed in ink and paper.

Three hundred years ago there was an English nobleman who sought advice of a kinsman on this matter. The kinsman, also a nobleman, told him: "Rather to go a hundred miles to speak with one wise man than five miles to see a fair town."

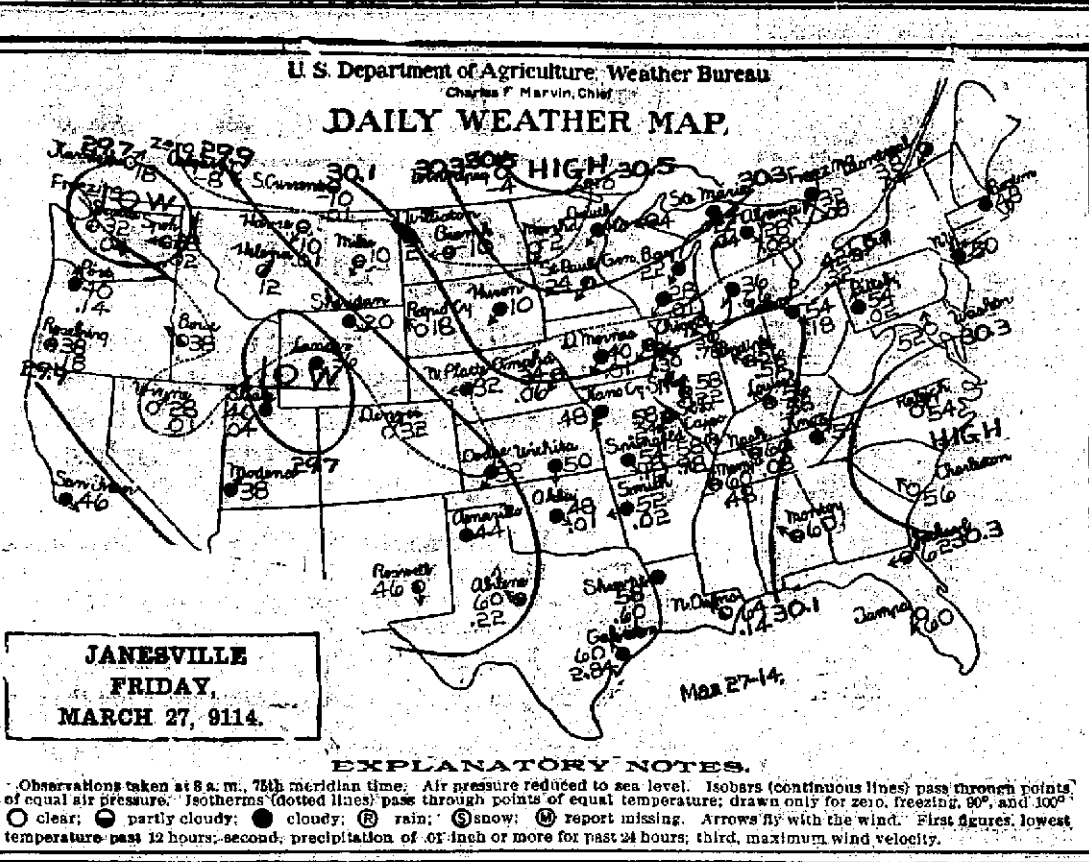

The seeing of a fair town was, you see, in his mind only worth one-twentieth as much as the exchange of thoughts with a wise man. Most of us think otherwise. Given our choice between traveling to see a fair town, a strange country, a wonder of nature or of art and traveling further and with greater pains to absorb wisdom from one fitted to impart it, it is to be feared that we would choose the former course, to our loss.

This is not to decry travel, even though Emerson, who traveled abroad himself, called the desire to travel an evidence of an unsound mind. Traveling is good in that it broadens the mind and increases knowledge.

The Spanish, who were great travelers some centuries ago, said that "whoever would bring back the riches of the Indies must take the riches of the Indies with him."

So he who travels for instruction instead of for mere amusement must take with him the seeing eye and the understanding mind.

And he who journeys, as to a shrine, to the home of a person of known wisdom must take with him the faculty of rightly hearing that person. Otherwise his time and trouble will not be fully compensated.

VISION BY MOTHER GOLDEN FOR SONS

E. A. Hayes.

Back of the announcement that the Ashland iron mine in upper Michigan, owned by Congressman E. A. Hayes of California and his brother, J. O. Hayes, is to be the heaviest iron ore shipper in the Gogebic range this year, is a strange story of the winning of a fortune from the earth through the clairvoyant prophecy of their mother. It was through her influence, due to a vision, that the brothers continued work in the property, after it had been abandoned as worthless.

Gov. Arthur Yager.

Dr. Arthur Yager, governor of Porto Rico, is now in Washington to confer with Secretary Garrison and members of congress in regard to the government of Porto Rico. Before returning to his duties he will visit his daughter at Georgetown, Kentucky, where he lived before his appointment to his present position last year.

STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

A Simple Remedy Which Favors Longevity.

You act as though you just wondered how you are going to get through this trying season, and do your work.

You may be overworked or have had a bad cold which has left you without strength, ambition or much interest in life; in fact you are all run-down.

Let us tell you that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is just the remedy you need to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength.

A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My mother, who is 76 years of age, owes her good health to Vinol as since taking it she can walk farther and do more than she has for years. I consider it a wonderful blood making and strength creating tonic."

We have such faith in Vinol that if it does not quickly build you up, restore your strength and make you feel well again, we will return your money. Try Vinol on our guarantee. Smith Drug Co., Druggists, Jamesville, Wis.

STEAM TOBACCO BEDS FOR SEEDING TIME

By steaming their seed beds before planting tobacco, growers may control diseases which annually cause much loss, eradicate weeds which occasion a great amount of labor and expense, and may obtain healthier and more vigorous plants.

Repeated trials made at the Wisconsin experiment station have proven this method to be effective in preventing loss from these, heretofore, common pests.

As a result growers in various parts of the state will co-operate this spring in steaming their beds. Already fully 75 growers living in the tobacco districts of the state have co-operatively purchased steam pans, each steaming outfit being used on the average on five different farms.

Pans have already been ordered by growers living in the vicinity of Edgerton, Stoutsville, Cottage Grove, Morrisville, Cambridge and Madison. It is probable that farmers living in the vicinity of Chippewa Falls, Brooklyn, Wausau and Burke will also co-operate in this manner.

The cost of steaming, according to James Johnson, who has carried on the investigations, will be approximately from 75 cents to $1 per rod of a bed six feet in width. The expense of weeding the unsteamed beds in many cases exceeds this amount.

The initial cost of a steaming pan, six feet by twelve feet, is $20 and the average threshing engine will provide the necessary steam. The steam should be run at from 100 to 150 pounds pressure for 30 minutes into the pan inverted over the seed bed.

Flea Not Afraid of Water. Relatively speaking, some fleas are more cruelly armed than the lobster and as strong to resist pressure as the tortoise. One of the rarest specimens in the collection is a flea of the white seal. The seal was brought home by a sea-faring man, who was asked to preserve it along with any parasites which might be found attached to it. In this way a new flea not averse to water was discovered.

FRECKLES

February and March Bring Out Un-sightly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

The woman with tender skin dreads February and March because they are likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind the recent discovery of a new prescription, othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep their skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength othine should remove them. Get an ounce from the Badger Drug Co., and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.

FARMERS OF COUNTY TO MEET SATURDAY

Winners of Management Contest for Two Counties Will Be Announced

The College of Agriculture has been collecting data from a number of Rock county farmers during the year 1913. These farmers are competing for the best all around showing and the three farms that score the highest will represent the county in a state contest where Governor Hoard has put up $300 in prizes.

The Rock and Jefferson county meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building in the city of Janesville on Saturday, March 28, at which time the winners in the two counties will be announced. At this meeting each farmer in the contest will be given the number of his own farm and the results obtained on it for the past year, and along side of his record will be placed the average result in the county, the average of the state, the average of the best ten in the state, and the poorest ten.

The factors that are making for success or failure on the farm will be discussed in detail, and the farmer will have a chance to see where he is strong, where he is weak in his farm operations.

All farmers and business men are invited. Prof. D. H. Otis and H. M. Elliott of the College of Agriculture have charge of this work and both will speak at this meeting.

Such children need Scott's Emulsion above everything else; it contains nature's rarest life-giving fats; it is essentially food value—blood-food and bone-food, free from wine, alcohol or harmful drugs.

Good Bowels Are An Aid to Growth

Growing Children Need a Mild Laxative to Foster Regular Bowel Movement

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother and at the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health, great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs, causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas, constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally, according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation, give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Mrs. Dey considers it the right laxative for young and old and has found none better for young children.

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results and it can be conveniently obtained of any near-by druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Makes Healthy Bowels

THIS simple rule of health is daily called attention to by every doctor in the land, whose first question to the patient almost invariably is, "Are your bowels regular?" Yet there's not one person in fifty who takes proper care of the bowels. And the result of this foolish neglect is nine-tenths of all ill-health.

If today you are unable to free your body of waste matter at the usual time, or if the act causes straining, pains and discomfort, don't let that condition occur again tomorrow. Unless your bowels can carry away the waste materials left after food is digested, decay sets in, the poisons of which, taken up by the blood, increase the risk of Typhoid Fever, Appendicitis, and many other serious diseases.

In treating constipation, there is a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way is to take harsh purgatives which even though they do clear the bowels, cause griping and nausea, injure the delicate tissues, and so disturb the normal functions as to cause the return of constipation. The right way is to help Nature to produce natural movement, without pain or discomfort, by using

Rexall Orderlies

More Than One Hundred Million Were Sold Last Year

This enormous quantity was used with good results by busy men who suffered from constipation, due to lack of exercise, or indigestion caused by overwork—by children whose parents realize the harmful effect of common purgatives—by old people whose systems cannot stand anything harsh—by women during pregnancy, and after childbirth, when any medicine with a violent action would be particularly dangerous. Many of these people are your neighbors and friends. Ask anyone who has ever used them—they'll tell you Rexall Orderlies satisfied and helped them.

—a gentle laxative in the form of a chocolate-tasting tablet. One of these tablets eaten just before going to bed will help to restore your bowels to normal activity at a time when your body being at rest, the medicine can do its best work. As a result of taking that tablet (or say two, if your case is obstinate), your bowels will move easily and naturally in the morning. The use of Rexall Orderlies for a few days afterward will restore normal regularity. Even chronic constipation is benefited by them, and it is not necessary to continue the treatment for a long time, because, instead of driving Nature, they simply help her to help herself.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores and in this town only by us. In wet pocket tin, boxes, 10c, 25c, 50c.

This Is Our Guarantee—You Risk No Money

If Rexall Orderlies do not make your bowels act right, tell us so and we'll give back your money without asking a single question. There is no red tape to this guarantee. It means just what it says. You sign nothing. We won't hesitate, or ask you any questions. Your word is enough. If Rexall Orderlies do not do all you expect them to—if you don't feel better after using them and find that they are the pleasantest-acting and best laxative you have ever used, we want you to tell us and get your money back.

has put a gasoline car behind it and called it a garage.

There is one thing that no man ever made a success of, and that is the drink habit.

What would a suffragist think of her husband if he paid $19 for a $2 hat with a rooster's tail stuck on it?
They tell us that civilization is advancing by leaps and bounds, but we note there are still a great many men who wear red neckties.

Uncle Abner.
Elmer Perkins says there ain't no such thing as true love, but probably Elmer hasn't been able to spend enough money to find it.

Somewhere in this world there may be a man who kin talk faster than a woman, but if so, he has been rather backward about coming forward.

Most of the good pool players in this country eat at home with the old folks.

The feller who has brains but no business ability is as bad off as the feller who has business ability but no brains.

If it wasn't for the shyster lawyers and the fellers with patent glass cutters to sell this would be quite a pleasant world.

When a feller keeps his mouth shut you never know whether he is a wise man or a durned fool, but when he talks all the time you are never left in doubt.

Every man likes to see a feller git ahead, providing the feller is himself.

There are a lot of ex-purts in this country who kin predict the weather exactly, but most of 'em has been waiting until the weather happens before they do it.

Most of the red noses come from the drug store counties.

Poor Brand of Happiness.

Some people find it hard to be truly happy unless they are making others miserable.

Little Banny's Nott Book.

Did you say anybody was kuming this evening, pop, sed to ma after supper last nite, and ma sed, Yes, Mr.
Mrs. Wilkins sed they wood bring there little banny over.

O heck, sed pop, I want go out awn
the street without meeting Wilkins and beeing bored to deith by a half hour recital of the wunnerful child's jest wen I get myself kumfortably settled in the expectatashin of a kwiety evening at home. I heer that there going to bring the brat erround and poke it at me.

Why do you, Wilkins invariably allude to them as little banny, sed pop,
ent even let you hold a sed ma,
Hevvin forbid, sed pop.

Wy, I think its a perfectly deer little banny, sed ma.

Why do you, Wilkins invariably al-
lude to them as little banny, sed pop,
ent even let you hold a sed ma,
Hevvin forbid, sed pop.

And jest then the door bell rang, ringing about 2 minits insted of jest ringing a little while and then stopping, the way it usually does.

Shades of Noo Yers eve, who the mischiff can be ringing the bell like that sed pop, do they think we are al-deft or wat. And he started to run down stairs, me rushing after him, and wen we got half way down the bell started to ring agin, keeping awn doing it as if it didnt now how to stop.

That agen, sed pop, and wen he opened the frunt door the bell was still ringing, and who was ringing it but the Wilkinses baby, Mr. Wilkins holding him up so he cood do it and
Mrs. Wilkins standing there laffin.

Hay, dont do that, dont let him do that sed pop, thats a delakt bell and I jest axed it the uthir day.

He wont heert it, sed Mr. Wilkins he pushes it jest for awl the world like a grown up persid wood, jest look at him, Potts.

I saw him, sed pop, kum awn in, wont you, that bells delakt! Lett you jest a minit, sed Mr. Wilkins, he wants to ring it a little moar, look look he axitly nos wat hes doing.
And he kepp holding the baby up and the baby kepp awn ringing as if it was nevver going to stop.

Its a delakt bell, I mean it, sed pop, I jest axed it the uthir day, you have no idee how easily it gets out of ordlr, cant you make him stop that.
Hes going to get tired in a seckind
and then he will stop himself, sed Mr.
Wilkins. And the baby kepp pushing the butlin and awl of a suddin the bell stopped ringing.

There, hang it, its broke, sed pop,
I told you it was a delakt bell.

Well it coodnt of bin in very good condishin to get out of ordlr that red-dily, sed Mr. Wilkins, anybody nos a baby cant psh very hard.

Kum in, kum in, sed pop, Mrs.
Potts is upstairs waitin for you and besides holding this door open makes a draft.

And Mr. Wilkins and Mrs. Wilkins and the baby, wich its naim is Winfield, cam in, and this morning pop fixed the bell agen.

CHARGE OFFICIALS ACTED UNLAWFULLY IN OILING STREETS

H. E. Pease Brings Suit Contending
That $3,381 Were Expended Illegally.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, Wis., March 27.—Charging that city of Evansville officials acted illegally and without authority in expending $3,381.48 in street oiling during the year 1913, H. E. Pease, a citizen of this city, has brought suit against the city against the Board of Evansville, against Mayor C. J. Pease,
City Treasurer George I. Pullen,
City Clerk Fred W. Gillman, and Aldermen E. Gabriel, Chester Miller and O. D. P. Chapin, members of the street and alley committee. Papers were served on these men on Tuesday.

It is generally understood that the action against city and the city officials, as not brought by Mr. Pease alone, but that there also associated with him a few others who have been somewhat dissatisfied with the oiling of the streets. For several weeks it has been known that some investigation was being made with a view to preparing charges against the city and the officials. But for some time it had been kept so quiet it was supposed it had been given up. A Milwaukee attorney has been here twice to meet the plaintiff, as well as at least once in Evansville.

If a legal battle is engaged in it will mean further bills for the taxpayers of the city. At the special meeting of the council Wednesday evening it was decided to retain in behalf of the city the firm of Jeffris, Motat, Oestreich and Avery of Evansville. It may mean eventually that the cost to the taxpayers of the city will be greater than the cost of the paving of Main street.

The present city officers will be candidates for re-election in April and will go before the voters of the city to vindicate themselves.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR F. H. FULLER, FRIDAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Center, March 25.—Funeral services for Fred H. Fuller, who passed away Tuesday, March 18th, were held from his late home Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. I. R. Spencer of Foot-ville, reading the last rites and administering comfort to those who have been left to mourn his loss.

Mr. Fuller passed away after a week's illness with pneumonia, and although he had been in poor health for the past two years, his death was unexpected and a severe shock to his family. He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife, Mary L. Fuller, a son, Jay C., and a daughter, Vera F. Gransee.

He was born in Queensbury, Warren county, New York, April 3, 1856, removing with his parents to Wisconsin when but a boy of seventeen years, where he has since resided. The funeral was held from his late home
Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

The following pall-bearers, all old friends of the departed, tenderly conveyed the remains to their last resting place in Bethel cemetery. They were: J. E. Davis, J. H. Fisher, J. S.
Roberts, B. W. Snyder, E. H. Brown, and Emory Dunbar. The song service was rendered by a lady and gentleman from Janesville, who sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Asleep in Jesus."

The esteem that Mr. Fuller was held in was evidenced by the beautiful floral tributes, large set designs from the P. and A. M. and M. W. A.
of Footville, of which he was a member, aside from a profusion of cut flowers from his relatives, neighbors and friends. He was of a genial and generous nature, a kind and indulgent father, and those who knew him best have but words of praise to offer in his behalf.

the astronomical sunset, and portions of it were visible for a half hour.

Relief From Constipation

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No gripping, is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O. All druggists.

Praises This Remedy for Lung Trouble

Many people are led to believe that Lung Trouble is a disease which cannot be conquered. This is wrong, as many have fully recovered their health. A change of climate has helped some, but many more have been restored to health by breathing the freshest air, eating well-cooked, wholesome food, being temperate in their habits and adding the tonic qualities of Eckman's Alternative, a medicine for throat and lung troubles. Investigate this case:

Bowling Green, Ky., R. No. 4. "Gentlemen: The spring of 1908 I had a severe cough, and six months later I had the medicine that my doctors recommended to me, but no results came from the better. I had night sweats and would cough and spit until I got so weak I could hardly do anything. But at last, James Decker, of Glasgow, Ky., had taken several bottles of your medicine. I asked that I try your medicine. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after taking several bottles, I felt as well as ever in my life. I firmly believe that Eckman's Alternative will relieve any case of lung trouble if taken before the last stage.

"Oh," she said, "don't mind me!" Then mirth conquered and she broke forth suddenly into a laugh that seemed to set the whole place quiver with a musical contagion. They both laughed in concert, while the pink pawsed the ground and sent forth a rumbling bellow of affront and challenge.

She was the first to recover. "You did look so funny!" she gasped. "I can believe it," he agreed, making a vicious dab at his smudged elbow. "The possibilities of a motor for comedy are simply stupendous."

She came closer and looked curiously at the quiescent monster—at the steamer-trunk strapped on the carrier and the bulging portmanteau peeping over the side of the tonneau. "Is it broken?"

"Merely on strike, I imagine. Are we far from the village?"

"About a mile and a half."

"I'll have to have it towed after me. The immediate point is my traps. I wonder if there is likely to be a team passing."

"I'm afraid it's not too certain," answered the girl, and now he noted the liquid modulation, with its slightly questioning accent, charmingly Southern. "There is no livery, but there is a negro who meets the train sometimes. I can send him if you like."

"You're very good," said Valiant, as she turned away, "and I'll be enormously obliged. Oh—and if you see a white dog, don't be frightened if he tries to follow you. He's perfectly kind."

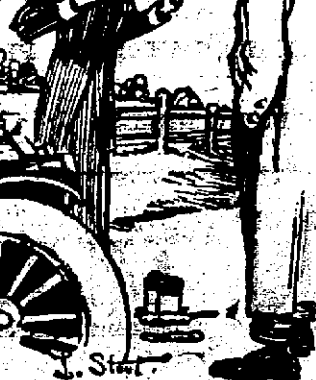

She looked back momentarily.

"He—he always follows people he likes, you see."

"Thank you," she said. The tone had now a hint—small, yet perceptible—of aloofness. "I'm not in the least afraid of dogs. And with a little nod, she swung briskly on up the Red Road.

John Valiant stood staring after her till she had passed from view around a curve. "Oh, glory!" he muttered. "To begin by shaking your fist at her and end by making her wonder if you aren't trying to be fresh! You poor, profane, floundering dolt!"

The girl walked on up the highway with a lithe stride, now and then laughing to herself, or running a few steps, occasionally stopping by some hedge to pull a leaf which she rubbed against her cheek, smelling its keen new scent, or stopping to gaze out across the orange-green belts of sunny wind-dimpled fields; one hand pushing back her riotous hair from her brow; the other shielding her eyes. Farther on the highway looped around a strip of young forest, and she struck into this for a short cut. In the depth she sat down to rest on the sun-splashed roots of a tree. Leaning back against the seamed trunk, her feet had fallen to the ground, she looked like some sea-woman emerging from an earth-hued pool to comb her hair against a dappled rock. She drew back against the tree and caught her breath as a bulldog frisked over a mossy boulder just in front of her.

She Was the First to Recover. "You Did Look So Funny!"

A moment more and she had thrown herself on her knees with both arms outstretched. "Oh, you splendid creature!" she cried, "you big, lovely white darling!"

The dog seemed in no way averse to this sensational proceeding. He responded instantly not merely with tail-wagging, but with ecstatic grunts and growls. "Where did you come from?" she questioned, as his pink tongue struggled desperately to find a cheek through the whorl of coppery hair. "Why, you must be the one I was told not to be afraid of."

She petted and fondled the smooth intelligent muzzle. "As if any one could be afraid of you! We'll set your master right on that point." Smiling to herself, she pulled one of the roses from her belt and twisting a wisp of long grass, wound it round and round the dog's neck and thrust the ragged rose-stem firmly through it. "Now," she said, and pushed him gently from her, "go back, sir!"

He whined and licked her hand, but when she repeated the command, he turned obediently and left her. A little way from her he halted, with a sudden perception of mysterious punishment, shrugged, sat down, and tried to reach the irksome grass-wisp with his teeth. This failing, he rolled laboriously in the dirt.

Then he rose, cast a reproachful glance behind him, and trotted off.

CHAPTER VI.

Mad Anthony.

Beyond the salvage of the sleepy leaf-sheltered village a cherry-bordered lane met the Red Road. On its one side was a clovered pasture and beyond this an orchard, bounded by a tall hedge of close-clipped box which separated it from a broad yard where the gray-weathered roof of Rosewood showed above a group of tulip and catalpa trees. On the sunny steps a top-eared puppy was playing with a mottled cat.

The front door was open, showing a hall where stood a grandfather's clock and a spindle-legged table holding a bowl of potpourri. The timepiece had landed from a sailing vessel at Jamestown wharf with the household goods of that English Garland who had adopted the old Middle Plantation when Dunmore was royal governor under George III. Framed portraits and engravings lent tints of tarnished silver, old-rose and sunset-golds—colors of time-worn and reminiscent, carrying a charming sense of peaceful content, of gentleness and long tradition. The dark polished stairway had at its turn a square dormer-window which looked out upon one of the rose-arbors.

Down this stair, somewhat later that afternoon, came Shirley Dandridge, booted and spurred, the rebellious whorls of her russet hair now as closely fluffed as a Greek boy's, in a short divided skirt of yew-green and a cool white blouse and swinging by its ribbon a green hat whose rolling brim was caught up at one side by a crisp blue-black hawk's feather. She stopped to peer out of the dormer-window to where, under the latticed weave of bloom beside a round iron table holding a hoop of embroidery and a book or two a lady sat reading.

The lady's hair was silver, but not with age. It had been so for many years, reticent by the transparent skin and a color as soft as the cheek of an apricot. It was solely in her dark eyes, deep and strangely luminous, that one might see lurking the somber spirit of passion and of pain. But they were eager and brilliant withal, giving the lie to the case whose crook one pale delicate hand held with a clasp that somehow conveyed a sense of exasperate if semi-humorous rebellion.

She looked up at Shirley's voice, and smiled brightly. "Oh for your ride, dear?"

"Yes, I'm going with the Chalmers."

"Oh, of course. Betty Page is visiting them, isn't she?"

Shirley nodded. "She came yesterday. I'll have to hurry, for I saw them from my window turning into the Red Road." She waved her hand and ran lightly down the stair and across the lawn to the orchard.

She pulled a green apple from a bough that hung over a stone wall and with this in her hand she came close to the pasture fence and whistled a peculiar call. It was answered by a low whinny and a soft thud of hoofs.

and a golden-chestnut hunter thrust a long nose over the bars, daring flame-lined nostrils to the touch of her hand. She laid her cheek against the white, thoroughbred forehead and held the apple to the larger reaching lip, with several teasing withdrawals before she gave it to its juicy crunching.

She let down the top bar of the fence and vaulting over, ran to a stable and presently emerging with a saddle on her arm, whistled the horse to her and saddled him. Then opening the gate, she mounted and cantered down the lane to meet the oncoming riders—a kindly-faced, middle-aged man, a younger one with dark features and coal-black hair, and two girls.

Chisholm Lusk spurred in advance and lifted his hat. "I held up the judge, Shirley," he said, "and made him bring me along. He tells me there's a fox hunt on tomorrow; may I come?"

"Pshaw! Chilly," said the judge. "I don't believe you ever got up at five o'clock in your born days. You've learned bad habits abroad."

"You'll see," he answered. "If my man Friday doesn't rout me out tomorrow, I'll be up for murder."

They rode an hour, along stretches of sunny highways or on shaded bridge-paths, where the horses' hoofs fell muffled in brown pine-needles and drooping branches flicked their faces. Then, by a murky way gouged with brush-gulches, across shelving fields, and "turn-tows" in a long, dog-eared Pownhattan Mountain, a rough spur in the shape of an Indian's head that wedged itself forbiddingly between the fields of spring corn and tobacco.

"Do let us get a drink!" said Chilly Lusk. "I'm as thirsty as a cotton-batting camel."

"All right, we'll stop," agreed the judge, "and you'll have a chance to see a local hon, Betty. This is where Mad Anthony lives. You must have heard of him when you were here before. He's almost as celebrated as the Reverend John Jasper of Richmond."

Betty tapped her temple. "Where have I heard of John Jasper?"

"He was the author of the famous sermon on 'The Sun do Move.' He used to prove it by a bucket of water that he set beside his pulpit Saturday night. As it hadn't spilled in the morning he knew it was the earth that stood still."

Betty nodded laughingly. "Ah, remember now, is Mad Anthony really mad?"

"Only harmlessly," said Shirley. "He's stone blind. The negroes all believe he conjures—that's voodoo, you know. They put a lot of stock in his prophecies. He tells fortunes, too. Bah! she warned. "He's sitting on the door-step. He's heard us."

The old negro had the torso of a black patriarch. He sat bolt upright with long straight arms resting on his knees, and his face had that peculiar expressionless immobility seen in Egyptian carvings. His age might have been anything, judging from his face which was so seamed and creviced with innumerable tiny wrinkles that it most resembled the tortured glare of some ancient bitumen pottery unearthed from a tomb of Khor.

The judge, dismounted, and tossing his bridle over a fence-picket, took from his pocket a collapsible drinking-cup. "Howdy do, Anthony," he said. "We just stopped for a drink of your good water."

The old negro nodded his head. "Good watch," he said in the gentle quavering tones of extreme age. "Yes, Marse. Help yo'self. Come, come, he centah ob de yert dat watch. An dah's folks say de centah ob de yert is all fiah. Yo' reck'n dey's right, Marse Chalmers?"

"Now, how the devil do you know who I am, Anthony?" The judge set down his cup on the well-cured. "I haven't been by here for a year."

The ebony head moved slowly from side to side. "OI! Anthony, don't need no eyes," he said, touching his hand to his brow. "He see ev'rythin' heah."

The judge beckoned to the others and they trooped inside the paling. "I've brought some other folks with me, Anthony; can you tell who they are?"

The sightless look wavered over them and the white head shook slowly. "Don't know young marse," said the gentle voice. "How many yoddahs wid yo'?" One, two? No, I don't know young marse, eidah.

"I reckon you don't need any eyes," Judge Chalmers laughed, as he passed the sweet cold water to the rest. "One of these young ladies wants you to tell her fortune."

The old negro dropped his head, waving his gaunt hands restlessly. The judge beckoned to Betty Page, but she shook her head with a little grimace and drew back.

"You go, Shirley," she whispered, and with a laughing glance at the others, Shirley came and sat down on the lowest step.

Mad Anthony put out a wavering hand and touched the young body. His fingers strayed over the habit and went up to the curling bronze under the hat-brim. "Dis-de-ji mistis," he muttered, "ain't ahead ob ol' Anthony. Dah's fah en she ain't ahead, en dah's watch en she ain't ahead. Wondah what Ah gwine tell huh? What de colob ob yo' hair, honey?"

"Black," put in Chilly Lusk, with a wink at the others. "Black as a crow."

Old Anthony's hand fell back to his knee. "Young marse laugh at de ol' man," he said, "but he don't know. Dat de colob dat bubu mah han's—de colob ob go! en eyes blue like er cat-bird's. Dah's er man gwine look in dem eyes, honey, en gwine make 'em cry en cry." He raised his head sharply, his lids shut tight, and swung his arm toward the North. "Dah's wah he come from," he said, "en heah—his arm veered and he pointed straight toward the ragged hill behind them—

"He stay."

Lusk laughed noiselessly. "He's pointing to Demory Court," he whispered to Nancy Chalmers, "the only uninhabited place within ten miles. That's as near as he often hits it; I fancy."

"Heah's wah he stay," repeated the old man. "Heap ob trouble wait heah for him, honey—heap ob trouble, heah whin I'll mistis 'em him."

"Come, Anthony," said Judge Chalmers, laying his hand on the old man's shoulder. "That's much too mournful. Give her something nice to top off with, at least."

EATING RELIEVES STOMACH TROUBLE

A Prominent Physician's Advice.

"Eat good foods and plenty of them. Dieting, in many cases, is almost criminal. Get back to normal. To do so you must have the proper quantity of nourishment. You need it for brain or physical work. Probably there is nothing the matter with your stomach except acidity. That is merely an abnormal secretion of acid in the stomach. Neutralize that acid and your stomach trouble will end at once. Neglect may mean misery if not cancer of the stomach. Do not take patented medicines or poison tablets for dyspepsia. Simply take a neutralizer of acid. Decidedly the best neutralizer is Eckman's Alternative, a liquid. You can get it at any drug store for a few cents. Take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after each meal. The relief will be immediate."

LESSONS BY THE WAY.

(The Story.)
When Jesus asked, "What is the Kingdom of God like?" he was only putting in words the query that was already in his disciples' minds. Three years of his ministry were past. He had already intimated that his end was near. But there was as yet no objective or visible expression of his system. They were growing restive and doubtful. There was nothing to match Roman imperialism on one hand, and Jewish ecclesiasticism on the other. The Twelve needed to have their confidence established. Jesus mercifully shores up their timorous faith by assuring them that there will ultimately be a manifestation satisfactory in its proportions and enduring in its nature. The beginnings of the Kingdom are infinitesimally small; easily overlooked; as tiny as a seed. They are objects of contempt and derision. But never fear! The Kingdom is a seed. It is a living something. God's self is in it. The tiny seed shall reach giant proportions. It shall fill the earth. Alive itself, it will prove the support of other living organisms. Corresponding to the visible expression, there is an invisible, none the less significant, vigorous, and important. Yeast is also something living—a single-celled plant, capable of reproducing itself myriads of times under a rising temperature. It is as if the Master were saying, "Be not faint-hearted. This invisible process has now begun. It will never cease until the whole human mass is permeated and lifted by this divine principle of life." An interested hearer relieves his mind by saying, "Lord, if all are to be permeated by this divine life, the common opinion that there are few saved must be an error." Jesus does not answer the question categorically. He does something far more important than talk of a speculative matter. He exhorts every individual to insure his own salvation by getting this living principle in his own soul. There is nothing arbitrary or capricious here. Success in any pursuit requires concentration. No one can achieve anything in art, literature, business, if he cumbars himself. He must strip like the racer and agonize in the open door means opportunity. Closed doors means opportunity passed. It will be absolutely unavailing for any to profess nearness to the Kingdom. Even those who have taken a meal with or listened to his words will be excluded at the consummation of all things if the principle of divine life has not been rooted in character. Great will be the surprises, bitter the disappointments! Those who have been eminent in profession and appearance will sink from view. Some, of whom no note has been taken, will shine in the zenith.

The Teachers' Lantern.
There were those who despised the Kingdom because it was small. Some hung hope on the antiquity and magnitude of the Roman empire or on the Jewish ecclesiastical establishment. Where is empire or establishment now? Where is Christianity? The figure of the mustard tree may represent the visible working of the Kingdom in its external collective organized philanthropic forms. The figure of the leaven may represent the invisible, personal, subjective working—the permeating of the social organism with a quickened conscience, loftier ethical ideals and standards. "Are there few that be saved?" is speculative. "What must I do to be saved?" is practical. The first question is a blind alley. The second is the gate to heaven. The questioner may have been satisfied of his personal safety because he was a Jew. If so, Jesus rattled him out of his security. Mere numerical computations do not demonstrate the success of Christianity. A more sane way is to consider the higher ethical and spiritual ideals of Christianity and the increasing realization and acceptance of these ideals in character. No excellence without labor!—perkins in religion, as in all undertakings of man. Remember Palissy, Herschel, Audubon, Columbus, and all the innumerable company of those ancients who subdued the kingdoms of art, science, commerce, not to mention the incomparable literary examples. It is not arbitrary, it inheres in the nature of the case, that one must hunger and thirst for righteousness and agonize through the gate which is so narrow that it strips one of his impediment. Ultimate triumph of the Kingdom is assured. The mustard tree will grow until its boughs touch the corners of the earth and spread over the islands of the sea. The spiritual leaven will permeate and life the entire human mass.

Some psychologists affirm that thoughts form certain combinations of brain-cells which actually record themselves in the convolutions and are capable of reiteration with increasing ease. Whether this be true or not, moral discipline exercised over oneself alone or in association with others becomes second nature. The fact that the class has an inspirational value peculiarly its own is the justification of all forms of organization for moral or spiritual ends.

How to Introduce a Man to Christ

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE,
Superintendent of Men,
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

In the conversation of Nathanael we have a good illustration of the principles involved in leading a person to Christ.
I. Every believer has a message to the world.
"Philip, findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him of whom Moses in the law and the prophets did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph." Philip did not talk about himself but about Jesus. That is what we should do. That is what we were called into the kingdom for—to talk about the king. The world is prejudiced against Jesus Christ. Sin has blinded their vision and they do not see him as he is. They think that he is unreasonable and exacting and they see no beauty in him that they should desire him. It is our business so to reveal the beauty of the son of God that they will feel their need of him.

When Ole Bull, the great musician, visited this country he found an old friend of his boyhood at Philadelphia, John Ericson the great shipbuilder. They had a delightful interview, and as he was leaving Ole Bull handed out some tickets to a concert, and invited his friend to come and hear him. Ericson declined, and when pressed, for his reason, frankly confessed that music was torture to him, and begged to be excused. Of course, nothing more could be said, but Ole Bull made up his mind that he would compel his friend to hear him in some way. A few days later he appeared at Ericson's office with his violin, and asked Ericson if he had any skillful mechanics. He said he met with an accident to his violin and needed a little help. Ericson touched a button and when a man appeared, he asked him to send Mr. B— to the office. When Mr. B— presented himself, Ericson told Ole Bull to explain to him what he wanted done. In a few minutes the man returned with the repairs made. The great musician took the violin, drew his bow across it a few times to see if it was in tune, and then glided into one of those matchless melodies that only Ole Bull could evoke from an instrument. Instantly every clerk in the office dropped his pen, Ericson threw down his paper and began to listen, and all the men in the factory gathered around the open door, and there they stood spell-bound for twenty minutes until the music ceased. When he laid down his bow Ericson cried out, "Go on, go on, my friend, I never knew before that I had a capacity for music."
The poor sinful world has the same idea about Jesus that Ericson had about music.
II. Every believer in bearing his message to the world is sure to meet with controversial inquiry. "Nathanael said unto him, can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" There was only one word in Philip's testimony that one could find fault with, and that was the word Nazareth. Nathanael, good man as he was, could not forbear the temptation to criticize, and he seized the opportunity at once. "Nazareth," he said, "the most despicable town in all Galilee; can any good thing come out of Nazareth?"
III. Every believer, in meeting the objections of the world, has a sufficient answer. "Philip saith unto him, come and see." If you will study this subject you will see that a complete answer this is to any possible objection. Suppose that one is uncertain about the authority of the scriptures, let him come and see—that is, come to Jesus and see what he thinks about the question, and his opinion ought to be final. He evidently regards the Pentateuch as the work of Moses, and the various chapters of Isaiah which he quotes as the word of God through his servant, Isaiah, and Jonah as a real character, who had an experience such as is attributed to him by the record bearing his name. If one has doubts about the possibility of forgiveness let him come and see, let him kneel right down and confess his sins and he can demonstrate the thing in a very short time.
IV. As soon as the believer begins to bear his message to the world, Jesus draws near. "Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him and said, 'Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile.'"
V. As soon as a sinner begins to talk with Jesus, the light begins to come. "Nathanael answered to him, Rabbi, thou art the son of God." By all means get an inquirer on his knees as soon as possible. He cannot see things there which he cannot see standing. If he is not accustomed to praying, and most people are not, ask him to follow you sentence by sentence as you lead him in prayer. In this way you will be sure that he confesses his sins and invites Christ to come into his heart and take possession of his life.
